HISTORY

The Sheer Bastion, built in 1554 during the reign of Grand Master Claude de la Sengle, has been one of the Grand Harbour's iconic landmarks, deriving its name 'Macina' from the large sheer crane structure ('macchina'), used to hoist heavy masts and other cargo, which was eventually dismantled in 1864.

The Malta Labour Party moved into the building in the 1970's, using it as a headquarters until the 1990s, when it moved to Hamrun.
